6. MAJOR UPDATES

- [16/02/2015]Initially Posted

1. OVERVIEW & GOAL

- This update introduces the Notification System to mobile platform.
- The Notification System brings the user important notifications regarding user's actions and results caused by their actions.
 - This system provides user easy access to real time feedback on appoast activity, without the need of going to a different page.
 - Real time here is defined as checking every 20 seconds.

2. DESIGN

Explanation	Illustration
Top Nav Bar - For all pages that includes the top nav bar, when notification event happens (check every 20 seconds), the notification counter will appear on top of the hamburger button, slightly off-center towards top and right. - The number will show the user how many new notifications there are since the last time they check. - This number on the hamburger icon will be shown everywhere when there are new notifications, except for: - when the hamburger menu is open - Since the notification menu button will have the number next to it - when the user is on the notification content page. (Image 2) - Since the counter is shown at the top of the notification page.
Hamburger menu - When user opens the hamburger menu, they can see the new notification button. - When there is new notification, the number in red circle will always appear at the right of the notification button. - User can tap on it to go to the notification page.
Notification Page - The notifications are listed according to DESC. - The top 5 notifications will be highlighted. - User can tap on them, they will remain highlighted. When user taps on any of them, the user will be taken to the designated page, and it will no longer be highlighted. The number will also be updated on the new page. - If the user has more than 5 notifications, the older ones can be found by tapping the Load More Notifications button. - Load 5 at a time when tapped.

3. NOTIFICATIONS

3.1 General

- Each notification serves as a link, when user taps on the interactive area, it would take the user to the designated link.
- Each notification is visually made of 3 sections:
 - Thumbnail
 - It can be either a user profile image or the Fyix logo, depending on the notification.
 - See 3.2 Notification Types for more details.
 - Content
 - In most cases start with a name with bolded font
 - Followed by the action
 - Followed by the link destination in blue color
 - This is actually not a tappable link, since the whole interactive area of this top will be a button
 - Truncated within 2 lines. (Default both desktop's 2 lines)
 - Time
 - Following the standard of [Platform]Design Update[Iterative and Absolute Time Stamp]

- Anything outside these types will not push notification.
- In the future we will add more types.
- If the notification doesn't have a specific user name in the text, the thumbnail will be the logo of Fyix.
 - Please use the image in form mock.
- First notification is the notification that will be triggered as soon as the user's account is generated. It will be everyone's very first notification.
 - When this update is launched, this notification will also be pushed to all existing users.

4. NOTIFICATION CROSS CHECK

4.1 Cross check on mobile & desktop:

- For any of the notifications mentioned in 3.2 Notification Types, if the user checks any notification on desktop, on mobile that notification will also need to be marked as checked. Likewise for mobile -> desktop.
 - e.g. I have 2 notifications on desktop, I check them out with my computer, and when I log in on my phone, I will not see any new notifications
 - But they will still be in the notification box, just not highlighted.

4.2 Cross check with email

For events described in 3.2 Notification Types, currently the following events that pushes notification will also send the user an email

- When my question gets a new answer
- When someone clicked "helpful" button on my answer
- When someone clicked "helpful" button on my tip
- When someone commented on my question
- When someone commented on my answer
- When someone commented on my tip

When user clicks on links in emails that takes the user to the same page, mark the corresponding notification as checked e.g. Somebody answered my question, I will get an notification and an email. If I click on the link in email that takes me to that question, the corresponding notification will not be new.

- But they will still be in the notification box, just not highlighted.

5. NOTES

- This feature is only available for logged-in users
- In screenshot and HTML mocks the notification contents are place holders. For actual notification content please make sure to follow 3.2 Notification Types.
 - Flavored graphics, when please follow form.
- The mock images in 3.2 are for desktops, for content and display format reference only. The width on mobile will certainly be shorter.
- For the logo of Fyix Moderation Team related notification, please use the image in form mock.

HTML Mocks

HTML mocks are attached to this document.

index.html - contains alert in header, nav panel and notifications page for mobile.
